

How Does Your Organization Measure Up to National Certification Standards for Green and Healthy Cleaning?

Introducing Building Wellness Certification Training

The nation's first accredited training program recognized by the Green Seal™ organization for facilities management and supervisory personnel.

- Achieve GS-42 certification, the Cleaning Industry Management Standard (CIMS) and points toward LEED certification
- Demonstrate your commitment to the health and well-being of the people who work in and occupy your buildings
- Elevate the job of cleaning to a higher level of professionalism and respect

Protect the Health of Your Building Occupants and the Environment

Building Wellness Certification Training provides your staff the training it needs to meet the requirements of the Green Seal™ GS-42 certification program and the Cleaning Industry Management Standard (CIMS). Cleaning personnel and building service contractors that are GS-42 certified provide building owners and property managers the ability to differentiate their facilities with the Green Seal™ logo and help them achieve points toward LEED certification.

Environmental Health Facts You Should Know

- We spend 85-90% of our time indoors
- More than 55 million Americans spend their day indoors at school, and the vast majority of them are children
- Indoor pollution costs more than $50 billion each year in healthcare, absenteeism, lost production and lost revenue
- Improved cleaning of indoor environments has resulted in reduced lost time, lower rates of absenteeism and increased productivity

About Building Wellness Certification Training

Our comprehensive program provides in-house staff and cleaning contractors with the skills and knowledge they need to maintain healthy indoor environments. Training participants benefit from the following:

- 24 hours of hands-on, GS-42 compliant training delivered in convenient schedules
- Flexible schedules that allows completion of training for one or more individuals in three days or teams of five and up to twenty-five over three days or six weeks
- Expert trainers with cross-discipline experience in occupational and environmental medicine, public health, industrial hygiene, toxicology, and chemical engineering

About Building Wellness Institute Support Services

In addition to delivering GS-42 accredited green cleaning training, the Building Wellness Institute can help you navigate the certification process, and execute and promote your unique environmental wellness program. Our consulting services address a broad range of specific objectives, including:

- Obtaining Green Seal™ and/or CIMS certification
- Achieving LEED O&M points
- Implementing green initiatives and LEED requirements
- Maintaining certification compliance
- Promoting tenant and green cleaning program awareness

Enroll your team today!

The Building Wellness Institute is currently enrolling individuals or groups of five or more. For more information, contact:

Marion Stecklow, Executive Director
mstecklow@buildingwellness.com
301.728.3908

Creating a better environment from the inside out.

About the Building Wellness Institute

The Building Wellness Institute helps facility managers, building owners, building service contractors (BSCs), and environmental services staff protect the health and comfort of their building occupants through comprehensive training, consulting and assessment programs. Our training programs and services, delivered by seasoned professionals with cross-discipline expertise in occupational and environmental medicine, public health, industrial hygiene, toxicology, and chemical engineering, are designed to facilitate GS-42 certification, gain points toward LEED certification, and support a wide range of environmental wellness goals. For commercial buildings, long-term care facilities, and educational institutions, the Building Wellness Institute enables you to make a vital contribution to public health and the environment that delivers unparalleled gains—in reputation, revenue and regulatory compliance.

For more information, call 301.728.3908 or visit buildingwellness.com.

© 2018 Building Wellness Institute. All Rights Reserved.